

ABOUT KATHY

Kathy Bochonko, the host of "Real Human Design Stories," is an Intuitive Human Design Mentor and lifelong wisdom seeker. She's affectionately known as "Chatty Kathy" and has a passion for discussing the elements that create a beautiful life. Kathy's journey is a reflection of her commitment to radical self trust.

Her path led her across the USA working in the retail fashion industry until infertility and her ultimate journey to motherhood led to her slowing down. Spending years as a Stay at Home Mom, with a side focus on social activism, eventually, her love for all things beautiful guided her back to retail fashion, where she found immense joy in helping others discover self-confidence through self-expression.

In 2016, Human Design entered Kathy's life, reshaping it profoundly. Trained in both Traditional and Quantum Human Design, Kathy, a 6/2 Emotional Projector, now dedicates herself to guiding others on their transformative journey. She helps individuals connect with their inner beauty, wisdom, and light.

Human Design is a fascinating system that blends elements of ancient wisdom traditions with the sciences of epigenetics and quantum physics to create a unique framework for understanding human nature and potential. At its core, Human Design is a tool for self-discovery and personal growth. It reveals your energetic blueprint, showing you your strengths and weaknesses, your unique gifts and challenges.

Intuitive Human Design encourages complete self-trust, embracing personal power that resists all outer limitations.
